

Supplemental Figure S6

Andrea Viglino, Romolo Caniglia, Aritz Ruiz-Gonzales, Danilo Russo, Marco Galaverni, Roberto Toffoli, Paola Culasso, Paolo DeBernardi, Elena Patriarca, Paolo Agnelli, Farina Felice, Giuseppe Mastrobuoni, Adriano Martinoli, Ettore Randi.

Corresponding author: Andrea Viglino E-mail address: andrea.viglino@gmail.com

PCA for each bats species using GENALEX; A: PCA of ME genotypes, the first axe explain the 27,06% of the variance while the second 18,49%. B: PCA of MC genotypes the first axe explain the 27,71% of the variance while the second 19,89%. C: PCA of MD genotypes the first axe explain the 23,67% of the variance while the second 19,55%. D: PCA of ME genotypes including Spanish and Moroccan samples, the first axe explain the 26,51% of the variance while the second 19,15%; Moroccan samples are showed by red ellipse

